Pre-Move Survey

To provide the most appropriate moving package for you, Britannia will carry out a site survey of your property. This will allow us to meet you and talk through your move with you, where you are going and what type of moving service best suits your needs. It will also give you an opportunity to ask questions and to allay any concerns you might have about the move. Britannia has a large range of brochures and destination guides that are likely to include the country you are moving to, so please ask your Surveyor for further information.

There are numerous regulations and documentation to consider when moving overseas so it's important you fully disclose anything important that you think Britannia should be aware of. Your Britannia representative will be happy to talk through all technical details with you, such as transit times for your destination, importation requirements and appropriate documentation that will need to be submitted during the course of your move to the various customs bodies in the relevant countries.

By listening to you and suggesting options and additional beneficial services, Britannia feels confident that we can offer you a quality international move at a sensible and appropriate price that matches the specific job we have settled on with you.

Britannia

Sole use container

What type of move suits you?

During the pre-move survey we will explain the different means of moving household goods around the world to you. Whether you have a small or large amount of goods to be shipped there are a variety of options open to you. The option you select will have a bearing on the cost and the time that it will take for your goods to arrive at their destination.

With Britannia's 'door to door' service, we can provide a comprehensive collection and delivery service between most countries around the world. Our best of breed overseas partners can provide you with delivery from port to your new home as well as giving advice on your new surroundings that will help you settle in and familiarise yourself with the locality.

Sole use containers will normally be packed outside your home, sealed and transported directly to the docks for shipment. Alternatively, if your move is smaller and therefore you do not require a full container, we can transfer your goods to one of our consolidation warehouses.

Here they will be stored safely until being loaded jointly with other goods being shipped to the same destination.

Should you wish to move your car along with your household effects, Britannia are able to offer this in either your own sole use container or as part of a shared consignment. Items required urgently at the destination can be sent by air via Britannia's specialist air freight service.

Britannia will pack these in to airline approved cartons or cases. For smaller consignments to remote destinations, your effects can be case packed for shared loading. Britannia will be happy to discuss our range of different services with you in order to match the best option to your needs. However, if you have any questions, or there is anything you are unsure of please do not hesitate to discuss this with our representative during our visit or call your local office. We are here to help!
